Robe Lighting's American HQ has moved to bigger and better premises in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

The new facility offers vastly increased office and warehouse spaces and, according to CEO Jens Horneman, "will allow us to create an inspiring work environment and be large enough to carry sufficient stock of both Robe and Anolis products, a prerequisite to meet the substantial interest from the US market".

A state-of-the-art showroom will also be integral to the new location featuring the latest product developments in an ideal setting.
